Murray Guard Unit Slated For Designation October 1

The type of unit that will be housed in the National Guard Armory designated for Murray and Calloway County is expected to be revealed around October 1 of this year, according to Gordon Nichols, public information officer with the Kentucky National Guard in Frankfort.

Murray, as well as Hazard, is slated to get a National Guard unit while Louisville will lose one of its seven units under a Guard reorganization plan proposed by state Adjutant General Billy G. Wellman.

Wellman said Wednesday he plans to announce full details of the proposed reorganization at a news conference Saturday.

Earlier this year Wellman had confirmed that an Armory would be located in Murray and that $19,000 for the design of the structure had been included in the executive budget of Gov. Julian M. Carroll. At that time, Wellman estimated that a unit between 100 and 150 people would be established in Murray.

Nichols said today that the Hazard unit will most likely be announced at a press conference this Saturday. He said that it is possible that an understrength unit elsewhere in Kentucky would be relocated to Murray and that the announcement on the Murray unit would be delayed to give the other units an opportunity to build up their strength.

Wellman and Col. Marshall White, the state Guard's facilities director, have made several trips to Murray looking at possible sites for the Armory but no site has been designated at this time.

White is expected to meet with Calloway County Judge-Executive Robert O. Miller next week to look for a temporary site.

The recruiting office for the unit is expected to be opened by Oct. 1 and the organization of the unit should take place around Nov. 1, Nichols said.

"Once the unit is 50 percent recruited we can secure a site for a permanent building," Nichols said, "and after it is 75 percent recruited we can actually start construction."

Nichols said that the type of unit to be located here had not yet been officially determined.

"We feel like that the type of unit to be approved by the Guard bureau and to mesh with other west Kentucky units would probably be an armor-type unit, possibly in the support line," Nichols said.

The plan, scheduled to take effect Sept. 1, must be approved by Gov. Julian Carroll and by the U.S. Department of the Army's National Guard Bureau.

Kentucky's chief military officer planned to discuss the proposal with federal officials in Washington on Friday. Wellman met Wednesday with the governor to discuss the reshuffling.

The reorganization is necessary,

Wellman said before his meeting with Carroll, because the Guard is not drawing enough recruits to support its units.

Wellman said the changes would not mean a loss of personnel in any area or reduce the Guard's ability to respond to emergencies, though he acknowledged that a continuing manpower shortage is costing Kentucky money.

The National Guard is about 1,000 people below its authorized strength in Kentucky of 6,500. The state thus loses about $2 million — or $2,000 per man — in federal support.

Wellman said the change in Louisville is needed because the city is not attracting enough recruits while other Kentucky cities are actively seeking Guard units.

Potential Nightmare In Election Year?

Statewide Property Reassessments Are Due Next Year

By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The state administration's potential nightmare is statewide property reassessment during a major election year, but, despite a statute requiring it in 1979, it is not likely.

Under the law, county property valuation administrators must conduct such a reassessment during their second year of office.

That falls next in 1979, which is also a year in which Kentuckians elect a governor and secondary constitutional officeholders.

Any incumbent administration trying to promote a successor normally would be concerned about voter backlash in view of the tendency of assessments to rise because of inflation and the consequent increase in property taxes that probably would result.

However, Tarleton Rogers, director of the general property tax division in the state Revenue Department, said Wednesday that "We have never placed strong emphasis on the statute."

He said that the PVAs, who although elected locally are employees of the Revenue Department, will not be ordered by the state to comply with the law.

Rogers said "there has been an issue over interpretation of the statute," with PVAs divided as to whether it must be carried out literally or whether a normal upward adjustment would suffice.

"If the PVAs did a reappraisal next year under the statute, they would still in the interim have to retain something close to fair cash value," Rogers said.

He indicated his office is adhering to court cases which decree that the state will not certify any county property assessments within a reasonable range of actual value.

"Our position is that each year, we advise the PVA where he stands in relation to fair cash value," Rogers said. "Then it's up to him or her to bring the assessments to that level."

The PVAs, whose election often depends on voter acceptance of their assessments, want a new law which would limit property tax increases to the general inflation rate reflected by the consumer price index — rather than the higher rate at which property accumulates annually.

A similar proposed measure failed to pass in the 1978 General Assembly.

Rogers estimated that general property in Kentucky goes up in value 10 percent or more every year. Until this year, the recent national inflation rate has ranged 6 to 7 percent.

Currently, the state is engrossed in trying to certify the 1978 assessments from all 120 counties.

"We hope they will be within reasonable fair cash value," Rogers said. "But we have 26 new PVAs who might have some difficulties."

School Board Plans Session On Saturday

Calloway County School Board members are expected to review a number of bids in a special Saturday school board session.

On the agenda for the 6 a.m. session at Holiday Inn is review of bids for a new football field and track at the high school, cafeteria items, gasoline for the year, bus insurance and Workmen's Compensation.

Other items on the agenda for the early morning meeting are personnel recommendations, a review of lunch prices for the 1978-79 school year, and review of the high school handbook.

Firefighters Extinguish 4 Grass Fires

Firefighters with Calloway County Fire-Rescue Squad had their share of grass fires Wednesday, extinguishing four throughout the day.

According to a spokesman for the volunteer unit, firefighters were called out about 11 p.m. Wednesday during thunderstorm activity in the area to a woods fire near the West Kentucky Livestock and Exposition Center on College Farm Road. The spokesman said apparently lightning started the blaze, first thought to be at the Expo Center.

About 2:30 p.m. Wednesday volunteers with the squad extinguished a grass blaze that threatened a propane tank at Dwain Taylor Chevrolet on South 12th in Murray.

The spokesman said the fire apparently started when a worker was using a cutting tool. The flame from that, he said, ignited some diesel fuel, spreading the fire to a field and small storage trailer. Firefighters with the squad put out the blaze and "cooled" the propane tank, the spokesman said.

Firefighters also extinguished two other grass fires — one near Stella about 7:30 p.m. and another near the Coldwater "bottoms" about 9:30 p.m.

U. S. Soil Conservation Service (SCS) officials revealed today public awareness of the new Resources Conservation Act is gaining.

"Private citizens are more concerned about soil and water resources than a lot of people realized," SCS District Conservationist Ellis Morrow pointed out.

"During the last week we have received numerous calls about flooding problems here, Morrow said. Others have voiced concern over poorly planned sub-divisions, loss of wildlife habitat, and erosion on cropland."

The Soil Conservation Service spokesman said, these items could be discussed in detail during the August 1 meeting at 6:30 p.m. in the Murray State University Exposition Center conference room.

The Calloway Conservation District and the U. S. Soil Conservation Service are sponsoring the meeting to fulfill requirements of the Resources Conservation Act which President Carter signed November 1977.

The Resources Conservation Act directs SCS to use public opinion as well as scientific data to appraise the natural resources on all private land; develop a 5-year program to meet identified needs; and to evaluate progress toward achieving these goals.

State Education Officials Issue Words Of Caution On Testing Law

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Some words of caution have been sounded by state education officials to the Advisory Committee on Educational Improvement which is to help implement Kentucky's new pupil testing law.

Wendell Butler, secretary of the education and arts cabinet, said Wednesday that certain dangers are involved with the testing which begins next spring.

"You can put a stigma on a child for life," he said, adding that parents also can be expected to be sensitive when informed their child is below the norm.

And Superintendent of Public Instruction James Graham said that although the 1978 legislation is "good in intent," he hopes it does not "degenerate into an accountability saddle" which would unnerve teachers.

Graham, who has not been enthusiastic about the new law, said there will be concern on the local level about comparisons with other school systems.

Butler and Graham were referring to House Bill 579, the Educational Improvement Act, which provides for testing of all students in grades 3, 5, 7 and 10 to measure progress and achievement in basic skills.

Donald Van Fleet, head of the office for research and planning in the state Department of Education, said competency testing is part of a national trend.

Kentucky differs from some other states, he said, in that it does not require a test for high school graduates.

All except one of the 18 members of the advisory committee, appointed by Gov. Julian Carroll, showed up for the first meeting. They elected Mitchell Davis of Glasgow as chairman.

Graham acknowledged that his department has its own ideas on competency testing that do not parallel the legislation.

Months ago he told a news reporter that he was going ahead with the department version despite the new statute, but Wednesday that stand apparently was softened.

Graham said his agency is still working on an "alternate plan" that perhaps can be combined with state-mandated tests in local school districts a few years hence.

"The tests are going to be more of a local than a state matter," the superintendent told the advisory group.

The aim of the new law is to identify students who score below an established criterion, and then to provide help for them.

Van Fleet predicted the tests would indicate that an average of one in five pupils needs remedial instruction.

Commission Sharply Criticizes State Police Hiring Practices

By T.G. MOORE
Associated Press Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The all-male and mostly white Kentucky Bureau of State Police has made "little more than a paper commitment to equal employment opportunity," an advisory panel to the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights said today.

The 17-member committee, which began an investigation in September 1976 of state police hiring and promotion practices for women and minorities, recommended that the U.S.

attorney general start legal proceedings against the bureau.

"It appears that, despite official claims to the contrary, the bureau continues to use some hiring procedures and requirements which have contributed in the past to the exclusion of women and possibly to the low numbers of minorities," Bobby D. Doctor, regional director of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, said in a statement accompanying the report.

The committee found that, "Despite mandates for equal employment opportunity from the governor, the Kentucky Department of Justice and the U.S. Law Enforcement Assistance Administration," only 2.2 percent of the sworn force of 948 personnel are members of minority groups, though minorities comprise 6.8 percent of the state's labor force.

Though 37 percent of the labor force in Kentucky is female, no women have ever been employed as state troopers, the report said. "This exclusion of

Frances Drake
FOR FRIDAY, JULY 28, 1978

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

Opportunities in a new field will interest you considerably. Study well — if only to grasp as an avocation.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21)

Stellar influences not entirely favorable. You may encounter tension in some areas. Keep your hand look at the bright side of things.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)

You may get a lot of offbeat ideas now. Put them right out of your head. In all situations, it will be important to stress sound judgment, level-headedness, self-control.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)

Care needed in matters of communication. Misinterpretation of a letter or other message could lead to misunderstandings or errors.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23)

Your innate aggressiveness will prove an advantage in conducting day's activities. Don't go overboard and alienate friends or associates, however.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

You may find yourself in the midst of controversy. Don't let it bother you. Rather, get together with opponents and, using your innate foresight, you can solve all matters nicely.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

If you feel you are going stale in the idea department, browse about in new areas for information. Hold discussions with those with similar interests.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23)

Pause to appraise potentials. Decide cautiously, but not fearfully, whether you should stand toe-to-toe with the competition or circumvent it by a clever maneuver.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

In dealings with others, be sure to note their reactions. The right word at the right time could be a big factor in attaining your ends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Teamwork will be important during this period, so make it a point to associate and work with those whose interests and aims are similar to your own.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

By going along with your associates, you can further your own aims as well. As with Capricorn, it's a day when teamwork will pay satisfying dividends.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

You can hold your own through thoughtful management, with a dash of imagination. Do not become annoyed if some change in your program is necessary.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine intellect, unusual versatility and ambitions which, unless you are careful, can drive you almost to ruthlessness at times.

You love pomp, ceremony and power, and you are never happy unless in the limelight. You have a great love of art in all its forms; may successfully take up one or the other either as a vocation or an avocation. But, if you incline toward business as a career, will ultimately reach the top echelons of management and organization, since your acumen in this field is beyond par.

Your flair for the dramatic makes you an outstanding candidate for the stage, literature, politics and statesmanship. Birthdate of: Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, widow of U.S. President John F. Kennedy.

Wives Worry About Husbands' Weekend

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: This year, as in previous years, my husband has invited his sales team to our mountain cabin for a weekend of fishing.

This year, unlike previous years, his sales team now includes a young, unmarried woman who happens to be very attractive. (All the men are married and middle-aged.)

Abby, would you believe that some of the wives are making a big fuss because they feel that it is improper for a single girl to sleep under the same roof with their husbands?

Our cabin is a six-room chalet with sleeping accommodations for 12, and this trip involves five men and one girl.

All the wives respect your opinion, so please tell us what you think.

D.M.'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: The woman member of the sales team is entitled to the same benefits as the men. If your husband excludes her in deference to nervous wives, he'll be guilty of sexist discrimination. So relax. It's a new, new world. Ma'am.

DEAR ABBY: I have a sister-in-law who really turns me on. I know it's not love, it's just a physical attraction. Every time she touches me unintentionally, I go up the wall.

My problem is I don't know if I should go ahead and try something or just lay back. If I lay back I'll go crazy, and if I go ahead, I run the risk of having her refuse and then telling my brother, and I sure don't want that.

What should I do? I am 16.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Lay back. Lay WAY back. And in self-defense, do your best to remain untouchable.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for six years and it seems like 60. We have three beautiful children, 5, 3 and 13 months old. My husband is a steady worker, he makes a good salary, and he doesn't drink or run around. Those are his good qualities. But when he comes home, he always greets our children with a slap in the mouth. He always finds some excuse to hit one of them. He uses me as a punching bag if he feels like it, too.

He tells the kids, "Don't touch the car. It's MINE!" (Everything is HIS.) He doesn't talk, he yells.

The kids are scared to death of him and so am I. He hasn't taken me anywhere in two years. I begged him to go to the priest with me, but he refuses. He says if the priest comes here he'll throw him out. He won't take me to church so I pray at home, but I have to hide when I pray or he'll say I'm cracking up. Maybe I am. Am I?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: A physician can tell you if you're "cracking up." See one immediately. Tell him what's bothering you, and if he prescribes counseling, by all means go. If your community doesn't offer a refuge for battered wives and abused children, they should have one.

You don't need your husband's permission to see a priest. And if you continue to live with this abusive man, who is probably sick, you are sicker than he is.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "RUNNING TO LOSE WEIGHT IN SANTA MONICA": Running alone won't do it. Diet is the most important factor. You will have to run three miles to "burn up" 100 calories. In other words, for every hot fudge sundae you consume, you will have to run 15 miles to stay even.

Mrs. Walker gave the devotional from John 6:13, led in prayer, and read the minutes.

Mrs. Ruth Parker gave a very interesting lesson on "Painting and Cross Stitch."

Another lesson on "How Homes Develop Personalities" was presented by Mrs. Violet Johnson.

Landscape notes from the University of Kentucky and a lesson on Kentucky authors were given by Mrs. Ernest Madrey.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Walker.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Ruth Parker, North 14th Street, Murray, on Monday, Sept. 18, at one p.m.

Gucci designs for fall on Italian fashion scene

ROME (AP) — Gucci, the designer whose emblem of intertwined G's adorns bags, shoes, scarves, watches and belts, is establishing himself in the world of high fashion.

Gucci made his debut last summer and came back again this season to put his fall line of leathers and silks on the Italian fashion catwalk.

This time the showing was held in the elegant Casino Valadier overlooking the terraced gardens of old Rome. It was a perfect setting for what director Aldo Gucci terms "a fashion parade made in Italian good taste."

Furs and suedes were sprinkled throughout the show as three-quarter length mountain jackets appeared in reversed sheep skin with buckle tie and tight cuff. Quilted suede blazers and matching raccoon coats were shown in Murmansk fur from the icy coast of Siberia.

Even a poncho sweater was created out of chinchilla with a suede border on the wide boat neck and three-quarter sleeve for "apres-ski."

Gucci's silks didn't receive the praise that his leather pieces did, although one series of silk print evening gowns were delicately designed and executed.

The collection was vivacious, splashed with cosmic colors of night flight gray, Neptune green, sun glow yellow and space blue.

But the old Gucci trademarks, the G's and the red and green saddle stripes, still managed to pop up on cashmere scarves, buckle clasps and silk prints.

Teressa June Oakley Is Wed To Chester Kent Duncan At Ferguson Springs Church

The wedding vows of Miss Teressa June Oakley and Chester Kent Duncan were pledged at seven p.m. on Friday, July 14, at the Ferguson Springs Baptist Church, Aurora.

The simple but impressive ceremony was performed by Omar Jenkins, minister, before the altar decorated with ferns, magnolia, and roses.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Dorothy Warren, pianist, including the traditional wedding march.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her brother, Steve Oakley. She was lovely in her gown of white chiffon and chantilly lace. The neck and sleeves were outlined with lace. The bride's fingertip length veil of silk illusion was attached to a crown of lace and tiny seed pearls.

She carried a bridal bouquet of white silk roses, baby's breath, and white satin streamers tied in love knots.

The bride chose for her maid of honor, Miss Angie Puckett. She wore a floor length gown and carried a bouquet of orange silk roses and baby's breath.

The train bearer was Little Miss Melinda Miller. She was attired in a navy and white dress and had a single white rose pinned to her shoulder.

Rickie Conner was chosen as best man. The men and the bride's grandfather wore rose boutonnieres.

Mrs. Henry Edwards, the bride's grandmother, wore a two piece suit and a corsage of white rosebuds. The groom's mother, Mrs. Louis Duncan, wore a two piece suit and a corsage of white rosebuds.

Miss Tommie Pritchett, grandmother of the groom, was also presented a white rosebud corsage.

Mrs. Steve Oakley kept the guest register.

Reception
Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church annex.

On the bride's table was a green cloth overlaid with white lace, the wedding cake, floral centerpiece, and punch bowl.

The three-tiered all white wedding cake was decorated with white roses, bells, and doves. The cake held the traditional bride and groom statuette, and was topped with an ornament of wedding bells.

Serving at the reception were Mrs. Naomi Edwards, Mrs. Jo Mathis, and Mrs. Obara Stagner.

The couple will reside near Dexter.

COURSE AIDS IN ORAL HISTORY
NEW YORK (AP) — In line with the current interest in searching out personal history, Bank Street College here is offering a summer course for people who want to use the tape recorder in this effort. The classes will help potential oral historians develop their skills in interviewing, tape recording, transcribing and documenting information.

Tobacco Smoke Is A Concentrated Form Of Air Contamination

Q. Mr. A. V. writes to express his irritation that so much is written, including several articles in this column, on the adverse health effects of smoking cigarettes. He says that he and his wife enjoy smoking moderately and that they try to be thoughtful in avoiding smoking where it may be a source of irritation to others.

He asks, "Why is it that so much emphasis is placed on cigarettes when our air is also filled with many other contaminants that are irritating our lungs?"

A. I am glad that the various writings have

Parents Without Partners Plan

Meet, Ken-Bar

The Mason-Dixon Regional Council of Parents Without Partners will host the July Regional Meeting at Ken-Bar Resort Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 28, 29 and 30.

Friday, July 28, registration will begin at 6:00 p.m. a wiener roast will be held from 6:30-8:00 p.m. followed by a dance from 9:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m.

Saturday will feature a business meeting, workshops, and committee meetings. The highlight of the evening will be a Luau style dinner (7:00-8:30 p.m.) followed by a dance (9:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m.) with Wayne and the Good Times.

All single parents are invited to attend, a spokesman said.

caught your attention and reminded you that cigarette smoking can have adverse effects on your health.

It is true that other contaminants are present — such as exhaust fumes from motor vehicles and smokestacks. Inhalation of asbestos fibers is also known to be especially irritating and potentially dangerous. Coal mining may cause black lung disease from the chronic inhalation of coal dust.

While the exact cause of cancer is unknown, it has been shown statistically to be related to the use of tobacco, particularly cigarettes. Their use is widespread and increasing, especially among younger persons. A high percentage of them become "hooked" and continue to smoke for many years. This cumulative effect is known to increase the chances of developing cancer, especially of the lung, and emphysema. The chances of cancer in other organs (bladder, digestive tract, mouth, etc.) are also increased.

It is true that other air contaminants cause respiratory irritation and may contribute to lung disease. These need to be recognized, reduced, and avoided whenever possible. Motor vehicle exhaust is widespread, especially in urban areas, even though some progress has been made in the reduction of some irritants in exhausts.

Keep in mind too that the concentration of air contamination in smokers is often far greater than from other contaminants which are inhaled, especially in smokers who regularly inhale even limited amounts of tobacco smoke. Heavy smoking (15 or more cigarettes per day) increases the irritation which becomes aggravated by day-after-day smoking.

Another reason for repeating the caution about tobacco is that its use is one form of regularly concentrated air contamination that can be avoided by personal choice. Such is important to subtract from exposure, especially when the other outside sources usually persist in spite of personal efforts.

Senior Adults Of Church Make Trip To Bardstown

Twenty-four members and three guests of the Senior Adults of the First Baptist Church attended a performance of "The Stephen Foster Story" in Bardstown on Wednesday, July 19.

Arrangements for the trip were made by Carlos Jones, chairman of the organization.

Enroute to Bardstown the group visited the Glendale Children's Home at Glendale. They were guests of the home for lunch and enjoyed a guided tour of the premises. Mike Oliver, a social worker, explained the operation of the home and conducted a question and answer session.

Before returning home those on the trip visited My Old Kentucky Home in Bardstown and the Abraham Lincoln Birthplace National Historic site in Hodgenville.

Those making the trip were Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Bondurant, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Theron Riley, Mr. and Mrs. Allen McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Jones, Mr. and Mrs. George Shoemaker, Mr. and Mrs. J. Mrs. Ford Is Speaker

Mrs. Sandra Ford of Murray was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Emblem Business and Professional Women's Club of Mayfield held on Thursday, July 13, at seven p.m.

The theme of her talk was what women can do to make their lives rich and full. "Women should look, see, and take advantage of all the opportunities that come their way. Life should always be filled with a learning series," she said.

Mrs. Ford gave a brief summary of subjects that are offered at Murray State University for helping women improve themselves in fields in which they are interested. Also, other subjects are offered that might act as a springboard into new fields for extending enrichments and interests to their lives, she said.

Joe Kursave Honored At Graham Home

Joe Kursave was honored with a supper and a watermelon feast on Monday, July 24, at six p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ryan Graham.

Kursave will be leaving for service in the United States Navy on Aug. 9. His Sunday School class and teachers, David McGinnis and Mr. Graham, of Northside Baptist Church, honored him with the party.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Randy Kursave, and pastor, the Rev. Larry Salmon and wife, were also present. He was presented a cake with the trimmings being of the U. S. Navy, and the cake was made by Mrs. Salmon.

Twenty-three persons were present.

Strange Happenings

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Strange things are happening in the skies over Estill County, particularly at dusk.

That's the time when UFOs can be sighted moving at incredible speeds or gliding in shrouds of eerie silence. They frequently change color while hovering above trees or skimming over highways.

State police trooper Jim Whitaker has encountered them twice.

Terry Kirby, a 16-year-old schoolboy, managed to photograph one of the dozens of weird shapes that he has observed.

An elderly minister and his wife, who had a frightening experience while driving to Sunday night services, have decided that if it occurs again, they won't talk about it.

Whitaker isn't reluctant to discuss the incident that took place last February while he was patrolling near Irvine.

"I was able to get within 300 yards of this thing, which was about as big as an auto," the 29-year-old trooper recalled. "There was no noise like you'd hear from a plane, and no vapor trail, but it gave off a red, blue and green glow and was rectangular in shape."

Whitaker watched for nearly four hours as the object "ran along at an ungodly speed, stopped abruptly and started up again, and did 90-degree turns. No remote control system could make the craft perform like that. Somebody or something had to be aboard."

Whitaker, who spent four years as a Navy helicopter crewman, is convinced that what he saw wasn't an aircraft. "It had to be a UFO."

Two weeks ago, while traveling in the same area, he got a glimpse of another one. "I'm getting over my surprise," he said. "They're becoming quite common up here."

Kirby, a junior at Estill County High School, agreed with Whitaker.

The teen-ager believes there is life on other planets and "they could be coming down to take a look at us."

Kirby has proof of what he observed. The photograph was taken in February 1977 when a glowing, oval shape appeared near his home.

"I grabbed my camera and was able to get a picture before the thing zoomed away. It was as large as a house."

Such sightings are becoming commonplace to the youngster. He has witnessed them for two years. Last week, while Kirby and his parents were outside, "a white light appeared, changed to orange, and then disappeared over the horizon."

"I wish one of them would land," he said.

That wish isn't shared by the Rev. Elmer Hardy and his wife Lucille. They had driven approximately eight miles from their home at Irvine and were rounding a curve in the road when "something came at us."

"It was large and long and I've never seen anything with so many lights," said the 74-year-old minister. Two thoughts crossed his mind.

"I wasn't sure whether it was the end of the world or an airplane about to crash. I stepped on the gas, expecting any minute to hear the sound of an explosion."

"We were pretty frightened. The thing almost dropped on top of our car," said Hardy, pastor of the Masedonia United Methodist Church.

The Hardys, and a young girl who was with them, waited three years before saying anything about the incident. "People look at you kinda funny when you tell them you've spotted a UFO," Hardy explained.

"I've never seen anything like that on earth," he added. "If I ever do again, you can be sure I'll keep quiet."

Dr. Jay Mahr, a physics professor at Eastern Kentucky University, has investigated a number of sightings, including his own.

"At one time, they were passing over my house on schedule," said Mahr, who has reached no conclusion as to their origin.

Some experts, in trying to explain the phenomena, agree that we might be witnessing space travel in reverse.

We've landed men on the moon and are probing other planets. Maybe somebody out there is doing the same to us.

Letter To The Editor

Commends Job

Dear Editor:

I am writing this letter commending a man who is very dedicated to his job. This man is Albert Parker.

He is in charge of the senior citizens' garden located on the Hamp Brooks farm on College Farm Road. He has never told me how many hours he is paid for but I can get out there at daylight or go at dusk and he is always there and always working.

I have been going out there about five weeks now and have seen a radical change in the place. Neat and well supervised. He has purchased old and discarded rotary tillers, plows, hoes, a trailer, scales and numerous other things that are needed and has repaired them himself.

If you haven't seen the garden, go out. It is beautiful. All but mine, it's the latest, pray for rain but not for me, but for the farmer.

Again I say this man is due a lot of credit. We are all so fortunate to have these gardens located on Mr. Brooks' farm. He has also done an excellent job.

Respectfully
Raphael Jones

Golden Eagle Passport

If you are planning on taking a cross-country camping trip this summer, you may want to learn about the "Golden Eagle" passport. For $10 (or it's free if you are over 62) you can obtain a "Golden Eagle" passport or "Golden Age" passport for admittance into national parks and recreation areas throughout the United States.

The passport will allow unlimited entry into these recreation areas and will admit you and a carload of passengers.

You pay $10 for your "Golden Eagle" passport (which is not refundable) by mail or in person to the National Park Service headquarters, U. S. Department of the Interior, Washington, DC 20240 or from Forest Service headquarters, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington DC 20250 or at a regional office of either organization.

If you are 62 or older, "Golden Age" passport is a free lifetime permit to the national park monuments and recreation areas. The "Golden Age" passport will also entitle you to a 50 percent discount on fees charged for camping, boat launching, parking, etc.

To qualify for the "Golden Age" passport, you will need to show proof of age (birth certificate, drivers license) to the same agencies that you obtain the "Golden Age" passports from.

Check your local phone book under "U. S. Government" for the National Park System or Forest Service Office nearest you.

If you have a consumer complaint, please write to the Office of the Attorney General, Consumer Protection Division, 209 St. Clair, Frankfort, Ky. 40601 or call our toll-free hotline number 1-800 372-2960.

He Got What He Prayed For: A Vibrant, Growing Church

A couple Sundays ago, my family and I attended worship services at the emerging and rapidly-growing Gold Coast Baptist Church in West Palm Beach, Fla.

Many of you will remember its pastor, Richard Walker, who was pastor of the First Baptist Church here for two years before going back to the Amazon River area of Central Brazil as a missionary — the same area in which he and his wife, Bea, had served for eight years before coming to Murray.

This second tour of missionary service, however, was cut short because of Bea's illness. Brought back to the states for tests, the doctors refused to let her return to the Amazon, and they moved back to the states for good.

Through a fellow missionary, they were provided a condominium on the beach at Palm Beach in which to rest for a few weeks before seeking a church to pastor.

"I just told the Lord," Richard said, "that we didn't care where He sent us. We didn't care how big or how small the church was, but we did pray that it be a vibrant, growing church, or one wanting to grow."

Their prayers were answered right there in Palm Beach, labeled the Gold Coast area of Florida because of its countless millionaires who own and maintain legendary winter or permanent homes there. Vibrant and growing churches are not made up of millionaires, however, and the little church across town in West Palm Beach to which the Lord led Richard and Bea didn't have a one among its members.

It's the Gold Coast Baptist Church, and it was established about 14 months ago on June 5, 1977. A month later, it asked Richard to become its first pastor. Its 223 members at that time had split off, as so often happens in congregations of all denominations, from another — in the area and formed their own.

They didn't even have a building in which to meet — just the desire to work for the Lord. "That was just what I had prayed for," Richard said. He loves a challenge, and that's about all he found at Gold Coast Baptist.

Today, a little more than a year later, the 223-member congregation has grown to 390 members — an increase of 177. They rent their building on a month-to-month basis, but, so characteristically typical of Richard, a scale model of a new church building costing almost a million dollars is in Richard's office.

Eight acres of land costing $150,000 have been purchased nearby upon which to build it. "We don't have any money, just faith," Richard said, pointing out how the main part of the proposed two-story building would be a multi-purpose area serving as a gymnasium, fellowship hall and sanctuary.

The building in which they meet today is located just across the fence from the Palm Beach airport and the roar of departing planes climbing into the sky can be heard during the services, although no one seems to notice.

The building originally was built for a gambling casino, later used as an airplane hangar and had been remodeled as an RCA recording studio before the church rented it. "If someone comes along and wants to lease it, we're out," Richard said, but he doesn't anticipate that happening.

Since no baptismal pool is in the building, new Christians are baptized, across town beneath the Blue Heron Bridge in the waters of the inner coastal waterway. Such a service was set for 3 p.m. the day we were there.

The Walkers are happy. Bea says she is feeling better than she has in months. They have just built a beautiful new home, and their two sons, Winston and Boyd, live nearby. Both work in construction. Sharing a small remodeled house at the rear of the home place with Boyd is one of his Murray friends, Brent Austin, who also has a construction job.

Serving with the Walkers at the church as director of music is Bobby Reeder, a Murray State graduate from Henderson, and his pretty wife, Celia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Simmons of Murray.

We aren't the only Murray friends to visit the Walkers since they settled at West Palm Beach. It has been frequent that Richard has looked out across his congregation and recognized familiar Murray faces.

Among those preceding us have been Mike Outland, Lee Stewart, Guy and Lurline Billington, Ron and Linda Wright, Jimmy and Jessie Smith, Dan and Mary Shipley and, of course, Archie and Boazie Simmons.

Richard is a born missionary and builder, and he is as excited and enthusiastic in his work at Palm Beach as he would have been way down on the Amazon. But has he severed his Brazilian connections. He has put together a 15-day November trip to Brazil with several of his members to help build a church 10 hours by boat up the Amazon from Manaus, where they used to live, at the little village of Manacapuru. More than $5,000 in donated materials are waiting for them.

"Tell the folks back in Murray that any who wish to come along are welcome to go with us," he laughed. "The round trip fare from Miami is $900 and it includes everything. We would love to have them."

Which simply proves that Richard always is going to be building something somewhere, be it in Palm Beach or in the jungles of Brazil, and it was good to see them all well, happy and busy.

Test-Tube-Baby Doctors Caution Women About Future Treatments

LONDON (AP) — Britain's two pioneer test-tube-baby doctors are cautioning infertile women not to raise their hopes too high yet and advising foreigners seeking their treatment that they and Britain can't take care of them.

The birth of 5-pound, 12-ounce Louise Brown, the first authenticated case of a baby born after conception outside the womb, was "the end of the beginning, not the beginning of the end," Dr. Robert Edwards told a news conference. "We wish to be very modest about what we have done. We have a lot to learn."

"It is obvious this is not immediately available to everybody," said Dr. Patrick Steptoe, his colleague in the 12 years of research and experimentation that culminated in the birth of the baby Tuesday to 30-year-old Lesley Brown.

Steptoe said the facilities he and Edwards have been using are inadequate and are no longer available, that they are now looking for new quarters and financing to continue their research, and that Britain has no facilities for would-be mothers from abroad. But he added a note of hope for the childless.

"There are a number of teams already starting this work. We think that within a fairly reasonable time, given the proper facilities, this could become applicable all over the world."

The London Daily Express reported that doctors at London's St. Thomas's Hospital also are experimenting with testtube fertilization and that a woman underwent an egg-extraction operation there Wednesday.

Mrs. Brown came to Steptoe and Edwards two years ago for help because a blockage in her fallopian tubes that prevented conception could not be corrected. The two doctors took an egg from one of her ovaries, fertilized it with her husband's sperm in a laboratory dish and implanted the dividing cell into her uterus, where it developed normally. Mother and daughter are reported in fine condition.

An estimated 40 percent of infertile women have the same problem as Mrs. Brown. But research on test-tube conception in the United States has been curtailed since 1975, when the Department of Health, Education and Welfare barred federal funding for it unless the projects were approved by the Federal Ethics Advisory Board.

The board, which has been marking time on the issue, announced after the British success that it would begin gathering information next month on such controversial related matters as the discard of fertilized eggs, donor eggs and using surrogate mothers to carry fetuses.

"I think we're going to be very cautious about this," said the board's vice chairman, David Hamburg.

U.S. doctors are also likely to be extremely hesitant about laboratory conception because of the $1.5 million damage suit a woman has brought against New York's Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center because one of its doctors destroyed a culture she claims was to have been implanted in her womb.

However, a spokesman for the American Medical Association, Frank Chapell, said lawyers for the organization "don't see any significant ethical problems. This is an extension of artificial insemination and sperm banks, which we've had for years."

Religious reaction was divided but muted so far.

The Vatican's spokesman, the Rev. Pierfranco Pastore, said the Roman Catholic Church considers artificial insemination illicit because "fecundation must be carried out according to nature and through reciprocal and responsible love between a man and a woman."

Experts on Jewish and Moslem law said they considered fertilization outside the womb legitimate as long as the father and mother are married.

Giles Ecclestone, secretary of the Board of Social Responsibility of the Church of England, said he "welcomed the development" because the birth of Louise Brown represented an advance in meeting the problem of childlessness for married couples.

Along with the ethical issues, a commercial storm was brewing over the birth. The Browns have sold the exclusive rights to their story to the London Daily Mail for about $600,000 and got a British government film crew that filmed the birth to sign an agreement not to release its movie for 28 days.

The government, which paid for Mrs. Brown's treatment and the birth through the National Health Service, said it could not accept the agreement and was prepared to make the film available commercially "subject to the views of the parents." But Mrs. Brown's lawyer, Paul Vincent, said it was unlikely she would agree.

Reporters asked Edwards and Steptoe if they thought the world's first test tube baby could expect a normal life.

"That depends upon you and your colleagues," Edwards replied.

Inventory Of Cattle Said Down

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The number of cattle and calves on Kentucky farms is estimated to be lowest since inventories began in 1973, according to the Kentucky Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

The July 1 estimate totaled 2,950,000 head, down 16 percent from last year and part of a steady decline that began in 1975, the service said in a news release Wednesday.

A harsh winter and a smaller calf crop were cited as contributing factors to the low inventory, the report said. The service said that in some areas of Kentucky, farmers have plowed pastures and intensified grain farming rather than continue cattle operations.

The current inventory is down 5 percent from the 3,120,000 head estimated on farms in January this year.

The agricultural statistics service estimated the Kentucky calf crop for 1978 will total 1,250,000 head, down 11 percent from 1977 and expected to be the smallest calf crop since 1967. That compares with a national estimated calf crop this year of 44.1 million, down 4 percent from 46.1 million in 1977 and 7 percent less than in 1976.

State's Senators Vote In Favor On Rhodesia Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kentucky's two Democratic senators voted in favor of a Senate proposal to allow lifting of economic sanctions against Rhodesia if progress is made toward a freely elected government there.

Sens. Walter "Dee" Huddleston and Wendell Ford voted with the 59-36 majority by which the Senate approved the measure Wednesday.

Stories About Louisville Mayor's Trips Conflict

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Louisville Mayor William Stansbury was with a woman assistant in New Orleans — not on official business in Atlanta as he said publicly — when his city's firefighters went on strike earlier this month, according to a report published today.

A copyrighted article in The Courier-Journal said the 55-year-old Democratic mayor lied about details of his trip, which Stansbury earlier had said he made alone to Atlanta to discuss affirmative-action law.

Actually, the mayor was at a New Orleans hotel with Mary Ellen Farmer, his administrative assistant, and Mr. and Mrs. John Hawkins of Louisville, the newspaper said.

"I just made contradictory statements," Stansbury said Wednesday when confronted by reporters with details of his trip. Asked if he believes he can maintain credibility and continue to serve effectively as mayor, Stansbury said, "I think I can. I hope that I'll be able to."

Mrs. Farmer, who was divorced in June, is in her late 30s. Hawkins was Stansbury's campaign treasurer when he ran for mayor last year. Mrs. Hawkins and Mrs. Farmer reportedly are personal friends. None of the three could immediately be reached for comment.

The newspaper quoted reliable sources as saying the four were scheduled to stay in New Orleans through July 16, but that the trip ended abruptly for Stansbury and Mrs. Farmer when the city's 580 firefighters walked off their jobs July 14.

Stansbury's absence at the start of the strike delayed a court order to get the firefighters back to work, drew fire from the president of the Board of Aldermen and resulted in a draft ordinance requiring notification of the council whenever the mayor leaves town.

After a meeting with reporters Wednesday, Stansbury called together his staff and appeared "solemn, apologetic" and "sorry he had misled us," according to a staff member who asked to remain anonymous, the newspaper said.

"The reaction was absolute stun," the staff member said. "None of us knew what to say. We just all said, 'We're behind you.' The bottom line is, 'What am I to believe anymore?'"

"I think Mayor Stansbury has learned a lesson," the staff member was quoted as saying. He said the lesson was "dammit, you don't lie to the press or to the people."

Asked why he had not divulged the full story, Stansbury said, "That was on what I consider to be political-personal business and it was not necessary to disclose that." He said he had hoped to meet with officials in New Orleans to discuss affirmative action programs but acknowledged he had made no public appointments.

Stansbury said he and Hawkins stayed in one room of the New Orleans hotel and the two women stayed in another. Asked whether his wife knew he was in New Orleans and not in Atlanta, Stansbury said, "I don't know whether she does or not."

The mayor said Mrs. Farmer was not on the trip in her official capacity as his office manager, but when asked whether that meant he is romantically involved with the woman, Stansbury replied, "No, sir, it does not."

Disco Dance Will Be, Kenlake Park

Post 73 Tackles Paducah For Legion District Title

Murray takes on Paducah in the first of a three-game series for the American Legion district championship at Ty Holland Stadium tonight at 7. The second game will be played Friday at the same time, while the third game, if needed, will take place Saturday.

Purcell-Ellis Drop Classic Opener

Mel Purcell and partner Charlie Ellis dropped a 6-4, 6-3 decision to Mike Machette and Sashi Menon in opening-round doubles action of the Louisville Tennis Classic Wednesday.

North Only Team Left In Ky. League Tourney

Semifinal action of the Kentucky League All-Star tournament gets underway at 6:30 p.m. at the Murray Kentucky League field. North, the only Murray squad left in the tourney, plays Mayfield No. 2 at 6:30 p.m., followed by Mayfield No. 1 against Mayfield No. 4 at 8:30.

196 Will Play In 19th-Annual Murray Invitational

Led by defending champion Russ Cochran of Paducah, a near-full field of 196 golfers is scheduled to tee it up Saturday for the 19th Murray Invitational Tournament on the 6,328-yard Murray Country Club course.

Cochran's five-under-par 139 last year after a scorching second-day four-under-par 68 brought him home in front of a 208-player field to win the prestigious West Kentucky medal play event for the first time.

A left-handed junior member of the University of Kentucky golf team, the 19-year-old Cochran will have an impressive pack of strong young golfers pursuing him for this year's laurels in the tournament's championship flight, one of six in which the golfers will be bracketed by handicaps.

Jimmy Brown of Paducah, the recently-graduated member of the Southern Illinois University golf team who two weeks ago won the amateur division of the Irvin Cobb Championships at Paducah's Paxton Park for the second consecutive year, will be six foursomes back.

Mike Shelbourne, also of Paducah and the 1976 winner, will be in the foursome immediately behind Cochran, who is scheduled to start from the first tee at 12:40 p.m. Saturday.

Playing with the defending champion will be Chip Sloan, Tom Austin and Mike Cronin, all also from Paducah. Cronin

Attempts Cobb Mark Of 40 Friday

Rose Makes It No. 39, But Mets Bomb Reds 12-3

NEW YORK (AP) — Pete Rose says it's too early to start talking about Joe DiMaggio but he doesn't mind one bit if you mention Ty Cobb.

Rose extended his modern National League consecutive game hitting streak to 39 Wednesday with a fifth-inning double in the Cincinnati Reds' 12-3 loss to the New York Mets. DiMaggio holds the major league record of 56 games, set in 1941, but looming just ahead is Ty Cobb, who hit in 40 straight contests in 1911.

"Maybe when I get up around 45 or so you might start talking about DiMaggio," said the 37-year-old third baseman. "But Cobb is next. People always have told me I play a lot like he did, although he was a base-stealer. For me to steal would be a disadvantage with all the good hitters behind me."

Rose has left a lot of good pitchers in his wake during the hitting streak, in which he's upped his average to .311. The latest was Nino Espinosa, who surrendered the double Wednesday.

"He got a pitch inside," said Rose. "I knew right away it was a double or a triple."

"On the first-inning ground out, Lenny Randle was where I had gotten three hits the other nights, in the shortstop hole. I signed a ball before the game for him and his wife, then he robbed me of a hit in the first."

"Nobody on defense can dictate where I'll hit, though. If they put three guys in the shortstop hole, I still should be able to get a hit."

Elsewhere in the National League, the Niekro brothers were winners, Joe pitching the Houston Astros over the Montreal Expos 5-0 and Phil topping the Philadelphia Phillies in the Atlanta Braves' 4-2 victory; the Los Angeles Dodgers eased past the Chicago Cubs 8-2 and the San Diego Padres were 6-5 winners over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Astros 5, Expos 0
The younger half of the knuckleballing Niekro act, Houston's Joe, tossed a four-hitter and drove in a pair of runs with a double and a single, while Bob Watson and Enos Cabell homered for the Astros.

Braves 4, Phillies 2
Big brother Phil went out and got the Phillies for the 20th time in 32 lifetime decisions against the NL East leaders.

Niekro, 12-10, pitched an eight-hitter in beating the Phillies for the fourth time this season. He also helped build a run with a fourth-inning single.

Dodgers 8, Cubs 0
Steve Garvey slammed a bases-loaded homer, Davey Lopes had a three-run, inside-the-park home run and Burt Hooton hurled an eight-hitter as the Dodgers moved into second place in the NL West, 1½ games behind San Francisco and a half-game ahead of Cincinnati.

Chicago starter Dave Roberts walked Reggie Smith and Ron Cey with two out in the third before facing Garvey, who lined a 3-2 pitch into

Padres 6, Pirates 5
Rollie Fingers earned his 21st save in preserving Gaylord Perry's 11th victory of the season and 257th of his career.

Phil Garner's two-run homer and Frank Taveras' two-run double rallied the Pirates before Fingers shut the door in the ninth.

Fernando Gonzalez drove in three runs and Gene Richards tripled for his 18th hit in the last 19 games.

Rangers Win; Rudi Smashes Brewers

By BRUCE LOWITT

AP Sports Writer

Doc Medich had just the right prescription for the ice-cold Texas Rangers Wednesday night, and Lou Piniella had a pretty good one for New York's feverish Yankee fans, too.

Medich handed the Boston Red Sox only their second shutout of the season, slamming the door with a two-hitter, and Bobby Bonds drilled a two-run homer in the eighth inning for the 2-0 victory that ended the Rangers' eight-game losing streak.

Piniella waited for an even more dramatic moment, the bottom of the ninth inning, before unloading a three-run homer that propelled the Yanks past Cleveland 3-1. That cheered up the fans who had been hollering for Billy Martin and booing his replacement, Bob Lemon.

In the rest of the American League, Kansas City shelled Seattle 12-3, California outlasted Milwaukee 11-9, Toronto trimmed Minnesota 5-1, Baltimore defeated Detroit 9-6 and Oakland beat Chicago 8-4.

Yanks 3, Indians 1
Piniella's homer off Rick Waits was his third of the year and came after Mickey Rivers and Thurman Munson had singled.

The victory was the Yanks' seventh in their last eight games, Lemon's second in a row since he replaced Martin, and his first in Yankee Stadium.

Royals 12, Mariners 3
Kansas City had plenty of power — 14 hits — including Pete LaCock's homer and Fred Patek's two-run triple. But for the first six innings it was Doug Bird's power that had the fans cheering.

He had a no-hitter going. Then suddenly, Manager Whitey Herzog was on the mound and Bird was gone after a pair of walks and Tom Paciorek's two-run double in the seventh. Steve Mingori took over and allowed just one more hit, Paciorek's single in the ninth.

Angels 11, Brewers 9
Milwaukee had a chance to cut into Boston's 5½-game lead in the AL East, but they ran into Joe Rudi. He drove in five runs, four with a grand-slam homer in the first inning. Gorman Thomas had a pair of homers and Robin Yount and Sal Bando had one apiece for the Brewers.

Blue Jays 5, Twins 1
Balor Moore scattered eight Minnesota hits and Toronto struck for five runs in the fourth inning, the final two on Luis Gomez's triple, to trim the Twins. Moore, who finished with eight strikeouts, lost his shutout in the eighth when Dan Ford tripled and Craig Kusick hit a sacrifice fly.

Orioles 9, Tigers 6
Jack Billingham, who pitched shutouts his last two times out, had to settle for a less-than-complete effort this time — nine hits allowed in 61-3 innings before Bob Sykes took over.

He got offensive support from Jason Thompson and Aurelio Rodriguez, who drove in two runs apiece.

A's 8, White Sox 4
Glenn Burke hit a two-run single in a three-run fourth inning and Dave Revering homered to highlight Oakland's 15-hit attack against Wilbur Wood and two White Sox relievers. Eric Soderholm had a homer for Chicago.

Veeck Plans 'Second Opening-Day' Friday

CHICAGO (AP) — White Sox President Bill Veeck insists it's not a hustle to hype attendance, but he plans to "open" the White Sox 1978 season for the second time Friday night.

"The whole idea is to get the players to forget about what's happened so far and get their minds on turning things around the rest of the year," Veeck said Wednesday. "We'll have bands and introduction of players — the whole bit. Just like on the regular opening day."

The White Sox, who have played well in streaks so far, were amid a nine-game losing streak Monday when Veeck made a rare appearance in the team clubhouse and gave a brief pep talk.

"I wasn't complaining. I told them to forget about the mistakes they've made. I told them that the mistakes have not been all their fault. I've made some too," said Veeck. "I told them that I'm starting over just like they are."

"I'm excited about it and I think the players will respond, too. At least I hope so," he added.

The players may have already responded. After the clubhouse chat, the team swept a two-game series from the Milwaukee Brewers, who came to town with the second best record in baseball. The Sox will play two more games against the Oakland A's before the "second" season opens Friday night against Texas.

Kratzert Attempting To Baby His Way To 2nd Hartford Win

By SCOTT M. BUSHNELL
Associated Press Writer
WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Bill Kratzert is trying to beat precedent — and maybe the stork.

Kratzert is the defending champion in the $210,000 Sammy Davis Jr.-Greater Hartford Open. He captured the $42,000 first prize last year with a 19-under-par 265. It was the last victory on the Professional Golfers Association tour for Kratzert, who is now in ninth place on the 1978 money-winners list with $134,140.

Kratzert is confident he can repeat his GHO performance this year, but his mind may be on other things besides golf. His wife, Cheryl Ann, is home in Fort Wayne, Ind., expecting their first child "any day now," Kratzert said.

The 26-year-old Kratzert said Wednesday he's "trying to get my game in shape. I hit the ball well today. I think I can repeat," he said after registering a 3-under-par 68 during the Celebrity Pro-Am.

The 1977 GHO victory gave Kratzert the confidence to play more aggressively. "A lot of guys keep from winning by being a little timid. After winning the first one, you have the confidence to go ahead," Kratzert said.

Only one golfer has ever repeated at the GHO. Billy Casper won the tournament in 1963, 1965, 1968 and 1973. No golfer has won the title in consecutive years.

There are nine former GHO champions in the field this year at the 6,354-yard Wethersfield Country Club course. In addition to Kratzert, they include George Archer, Don Bies, Gene Littler, Bob Lunn, Rik Massengale and Dave Stockton.

Massengale said Wednesday that he has "played the worst this year since being on the tour." The 1976 winner has watched his swing and found he is moving his head on the down-swing. But the "cure has not come around yet."

"The guy who wins this tourney is going to have to make a lot of birdies. That's hard to do on this course," he said.

The competition also includes Andy Bean, the leading moneywinner on the PGA circuit this year. Bean has won $245,558 and holds a narrow margin over Jack Nicklaus.

But the GHO has not attracted the top names on the circuit. Nicklaus, Gary Player and Arnold Palmer are not among the entrants. Also absent is the popular Lee Trevino and Andy North, the winner of the U.S. Open.

In addition, six of the top 10 money winners on the 1978 circuit are not here. The only ones playing are Bean, Hubert Green, Kratzert and Gil Morgan.

Green finished in a tie for first in the 1975 GHO, losing to Don Bies on the second playoff hole. He shot a 67 in Wednesday's pro-am, as did Morgan. Morgan, who made a charge at Jack Nicklaus in the final round of the Philadelphia Golf Classic and finished second, shot a 4-under-par 67 Wednesday.

CBS Beat Everyone

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

Chalk one up for CBS on the Billy Martin situation. Consider ABC embarrassed.

When Martin made his farewell address as Yankee manager Monday afternoon at the Crown Center Hotel in Kansas City, there was only one film crew on hand, a crew from CBS' Chicago Bureau. Martin, grim and haggard, tried to read a statement of resignation, broke down in tears and had to be led away by team officials.

It was a tremendously moving moment and CBS used its exclusive film nationally on the evening news show. ABC, with several tons of equipment in town for the Monday night ballgame, came up empty.

The crew that filmed Martin's resignation was in Kansas City on another assignment, covering Rev. Jesse Jackson and his Operation Push. When the latest chapter in the Yankees-Martin drama began to break Monday morning, the film crew was directed to the hotel to see if they could come up with anything.

The hotel was jammed with writers, radio people and no fewer than six TV crews representing the three networks and three local stations. The Yankees announced that there would be a statement on the situation later at the ballpark and that nothing would happen at the hotel. All the camera crews left for the ballpark except one.

Rick Brown, producer with the CBS crew, phoned Martin in his hotel room and Martin said he'd be down shortly. So Brown decided to ignore the mass exodus of the other camera crews and stay put for a while. It paid off.

"We knew we were the only ones who got it," said Susan Karaher, assistant manager of CBS' Chicago Bureau. "It was lucky, but it was also diligence and hard work."

ABC, down but not out, tried to get the film from CBS for use during the Monday night game. Film exchanges of sporting events are not uncommon, but was this a sporting event?

"We pursued this story as a competitive news event," says Larry Doyle, acting national news editor for CBS. "If our people through good work and tenacity get a story on our own I don't see that it's necessary we share it. We consider this a news story."

Sports Festival Shows Drawbacks As Competition In 18 Events Opens

By JERRY GARRETT
AP Sports Writer

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The National Sports Festival is an idea whose time has come, according to officials of the U.S. Olympic Committee, although as late as a month ago, an idea was all it was.

But following a modest opening ceremony Wednesday night, competition began today in 18 Olympic sports at the Air Force Academy to the north and Pueblo to the south in the inaugural National Sports Festival.

In only four weeks, the games were organized at the new USOC training center here, sites selected and prepared and commitments received from more than 2,100 athletes.

Airline seats are at a premium until next Tuesday; hotel rooms are booked solid for 30 miles around the city. For transportation of the athletes, charter buses, tour buses, school buses and even church buses have been appropriated.

The logistics of it were staggering, and in many cases it shows how hastily the festival was put together.

In basketball, for example, the festival committee failed to ask soon enough to get the National Collegiate Athletic Association to waive restrictions on its athletes participating in summer play. The result is a somewhat unsatisfactory combination of high school, junior college and small college prospects.

Former Murray Assistant Rockne At Campbell Co.

ALEXANDRIA, Ky. (AP) — When people think of football coaches, they often think about Rockne.

So far, it's usually been Knute, not John, Rockne that they're talking about.

John Rockne is the grandson of the legendary football coach of Notre Dame and so far his career has been modest.

At 29 years old, he recently left an assistant's job at Murray State to become offensive coordinator at Campbell County High School.

However, his name still attracts considerable attention.

"Every place I go all the questions are directed at me and they (other-coaches) get ignored," Rockne admitted.

"Some people expect you to go out there and be like him. They expect you to be better than everyone else. In a way, I like that."

Rockne never knew his grandfather, who was killed in a 1931 plane crash.

"I just know the stories," he said. "When I was a little kid, we'd go places. You'd meet all these guys that played for him. You'd sit there and laugh, but they spoke seriously like it meant something to play for him."

There are also family reminders of the Rockne tradition.

"There isn't a room you went into you didn't recognize something of his," Rockne said. "I've got the first monogram he won at Notre Dame."

The South Bend, Ind. Adams High quarterback didn't make it to Notre Dame as a player. As it turned out, he spent three years with the Army in Vietnam.

After returning, Rockne tried professional football and was cut after a two-day tryout with the Houston Oilers.

Then it was back to school to start collecting degrees and coaching experience.

He found himself without a job after a coaching change last spring, and has some bitter memories of unsuccessful auditions.

"I was very frustrated in May," he said. "To tell you the truth I don't know if I'll ever get back to the college level. But I felt like it was a good opportunity here and I admired coach (Don) Shelton. Somewhere down the line, maybe it's meant to be."

Grand Masters Offers More For "Grizzled Vets" Than In Their Heyday

By JOHN NADEL

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Whitney Reed was the top-ranked tennis player in the United States 16 years ago. Now, well past his prime, he finally has a chance to make some money from his favorite game.

Reed is one of a dozen or so Grand Masters, former tennis greats 45 years old and up taking part in tournament competition throughout the world. In most cases, there is more money at stake now than ever before for these grizzled veterans.

The Grand Masters were formed in late 1972. This year, 22 tournaments are scheduled offering nearly $300,000 in prize money. Four players earned more than $30,000 last year, meaning that many are collecting more now than when in their heyday.

"It's kind of a boot to me to get a chance at revenge at some of these players who wallowed me in their prime," said the free-spirited Reed, entered in the second annual Grand Masters of Los Angeles Tournament this Friday through Sunday at the Los Angeles Tennis Club. "I've found they haven't lost a lot from their prime."

To be a Grand Master, a player must have represented his country in international play or won a national championship.

Joining Reed in the Los Angeles tournament will be Pancho Gonzalez, Frank Sedgman, Torben Ulrich, Sven Davidson, Rex Hartwig, Beppe Merlo and Neale Fraser.

Reed, who turns 46 next month, believes that many of these players, in their prime, would have an excellent chance of beating today's standouts.

"The game is somehow, overnight, different," said Reed. "Today they stay at the baseline, use two hands and wait until somebody makes a mistake. The top players used to be attackers. Everybody was playing that way."

"It's hard to tell what the outcome would be, but I can't help but feel the attacker would win. A Laver or a Sedgman would put the ball against the fence and dominate a match."

"It's more endurance today than it is shot-making," said Reed. "But I don't think there's any resentment among the older players toward the current stars as far as money's concerned. What the stars used to make is peanuts in comparison to what today's players make."

3 Die In Six Flags Cable Accident

By ROBERT BURNS
Associated Press Writer
EUREKA, Mo. (AP) — Three persons plunged nearly 70 feet to their deaths and a fourth was critically injured in a steel cable car when a support arm snapped Wednesday on the Sky Way ride at Six Flags over Mid-America.

About 60 persons were stranded in the 15 remaining cable cars in operation at the time. All were rescued without further incident. The last passengers reached safety four hours after the accident.

The steel cable car, a mass of gnarled metal, was whisked away to a storage room nearby.

St. Louis County Fire Marshal James Holdinghaus said safety devices on the cable ride prevented the other cars from falling. Some parts of the ride are as high as 100 feet above the park, which was filled with about 20,000 persons at the time of the accident, officials said.

The ride had operated for eight years without incident, a park spokesman said. More than 15 million people have ridden safely in the Swiss-made ride, he added. He called the accident a "fluke."

Firemen and police from ten surrounding communities used crane-like snorkel units to rescue the riders. It took a 100-foot aerial boom to reach the last few cable cars that swung gently in the humid 94-degree summer breeze at the attraction located about 25 miles south of St. Louis.

Less than an hour after the final person was snatched from the suspended cable car, high winds and torrential rains pummeled the 503-acre park.

Two girls, Trisha Weeks, 10, and Kristen Johnson, 15, of Rivesville, W.Va. and her uncle, Clark F. Johnson, 25, of Barre Vt., were killed after one of the ride's 28 cable cars snapped loose when the support arm gave way about 2 p.m. Only 16 cars were in the air at the time.

Jennine Weeks, 12, a sister of Trisha, was in critical but stable condition today after surgery Wednesday night at a nearby hospital. The uncle and niece were visiting the Weeks family at their St. Louis County home.

A spokesman for the park, Bob Kochan, said that the ride could hold 112 persons. The three killed and one injured were the only occupants of the car that fell, he said.

The ride, runs across most of the width of the park. Passengers are carried in 28 small cars suspended on a moving cable.

Kochan said the cable car ride would not be used again until an engineer from Six Flags over Georgia, a sister operation, arrives for an investigation.

Dave Kaplan, a spokesman for Six Flags over Georgia, said Six Flags, Inc., operates five theme parks and two wax museums. Besides Six Flags over Mid-America and Six Flags over Georgia, they are Six Flags over Texas, Astro World in Houston and Great Adventure in Jackson, N.J.

BOYPOWER, NOT HORSEPOWER — Time and the dandelion wait for no man and so with spring comes dandelions and lawnmowing. In the latter vein, this two-boypower mower with a push-pull starting mechanism was cutting a swath through a dandelion laden lawn near Bird-in-Hand, Pa.

Weiler, Dahlstrom To Present Workshop In Lake Placid, N.Y.

Melody Weiler, assistant professor of art at Murray State University, and Nancy Dahlstrom of Hollins College, Hollins, Virginia, will present a Papermaking Workshop July 29-Aug. 4 at the Lake Placid School of Art, Lake Placid, N.Y.

Hand papermaking, a craft which has almost disappeared in the United States, is making a comeback with professional artists. A few hand paper forming shops are now operating in the nation, and other graphic artists are experimenting with hand made papers of their own formula in their studios.

At Lake Placid, professors Weiler and Dahlstrom will demonstrate both basic and advanced hand papermaking techniques. Participants will be shown how to build a mould and deckle unit for sheet forming. The basic steep of dipping pulp with the mould to form a sheet will be practiced. More advanced forming, including sheet lamination and paper casting, will be demonstrated.

Professor Weiler joined MSU's faculty in 1975, where she teaches printmaking. Her students are also trained in bookbinding and papermaking techniques.

Ms. Weiler taught at Atlanta School of Art, Kansas City Art Institute and Ohio University, Athens, before coming to Murray State. Her works have been exhibited throughout the east and mid-west.

Carter Administration Is Clamping Down On Federal Computer Security

By H. JOSEF HEBERT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration, concerned about reports that government files on millions of Americans aren't tamper-proof, is clamping down on computer security, an administration source says.

The source said the Office of Management and Budget is planning, probably next week, to issue a directive requiring tighter precautions to safeguard against unauthorized people having access to the government's computers. President Carter had asked the OMB in February 1977, to study the problem.

The federal government is the country's largest user of computers with an estimated 10,000 of them processing everything from tax returns to crop reports.

Although essential elements of the directive have been completed, some details still may be changed, the source, who declined to be identified, said Wednesday night.

The White House move comes amid increasing concern by some members of Congress about the easy access to information in some computers — a situation which, critics say, constitutes a potential invasion of privacy and opens the system to fraud.

The General Accounting Office issued a report earlier this month critical of computer safeguards in the Social Security Administration, which maintains medical and financial records on 170 million Americans.

The GAO, the investigative arm of Congress, said computer terminals often were not locked and could be used by almost anyone with access to them. The GAO said in many cases there was unlimited access to the terminal by employees.

Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., a co-author of the 1974 Privacy Act, also has charged that the availability of the Veterans Administration's computerized files is too broad and that such files should be safeguarded under more stringent security.

An internal audit by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare revealed last November that computer "systems security in HEW was far from meeting minimum acceptable standards."

Both HEW and the Social Security Administration since have moved independently to increase computer security, but the White House directive is expected to put added emphasis on the problem.

The source said the directive will order the Commerce Department to compile new security standards and guidelines, and will require the General Services Administration, the government's landlord, to establish new regulations for physical security of computer rooms.

The directive also will order the Civil Service Commission to re-evaluate and set standards on screening, including background checks, of employees working with government computers, the source said.

The government's computerized files, especially those held by the Social Security and Veterans administrations — contain a broad range of information including data on a person's earnings, real estate holdings, medical history and marital status as well as whether an individual has had problems with drugs or alcohol.

23 Buy At Uncle Sam's Car Sale

By KEN HERMAN
Associated Press Writer
BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — For the 23 rust-dotted cars and trucks baking in the border sun, it was a chance to return to a respectable life.

For the 23 people who bought the vehicles from "Uncle Sam's used cars" Tuesday, it was an adventure.

"You know you're getting an unknown," said Ed Collier of Brownsville who bought a pickup truck at the U.S. Customs auction here a few years back.

The vehicles and other assorted goods — and bads — were seized by customs officials at the border and rescued from a life of drug running.

"That Mercedes had cocaine in it," senior inspector Ernest Tijerina said. The truck Collier bought contained 800 pounds of marijuana when it was seized.

But the 100 or so eager buyers here didn't care about the vehicles' prior records. They were looking for cheap transportation or a car they could sell for a quick profit.

"Some items are just about given away and others go for twice their value," Tijerina, the auctioneer, said. "People get carried away at an auction."

The auction began with 19 boxes of assorted onyx goods — the kind that infest the souvenir shops across the border. Tijerina hawked the merchandise as if he were a salesman in a Mexican market.

"This one's got a lot of fruit. Make a nice dinner piece," he said as he combed through one carton.

"This one's got Democrats," he said, holding up an onyx donkey.

The inspector-auctioneer said, he has seen some quick profits made at these auctions.

"I saw a guy buy a box of binoculars, for $6 each. He turned around and sold them for $15 each — just by making a few phone calls," he said.

Everything went Tuesday. Besides the cars and trucks, Uncle Sam disposed of confiscated onyx, water distillers, Ford ignition switches, sweaters and blouses.

Then Tijerina made a smooth switch from Mexican trinket salesman to used car pusher.

"Here's a good fishing car," he said of one clunker.

"We'll start with $5 on this one. We ought to go all the way up to $10," he said about a car that sold for $185.

The cars sold quickly. The cocaine-toting Mercedes, minus the cocaine, went for $1,525 after rapid-fire bidding.

Everything is sold as is and Uncle Sam drives a hard bargain. No personal checks and pay by 5 p.m.

But the old wheeler-dealer is a little less heartless about getting cars off the lot, where many of them looked like they had been sitting for a long while.

"We just want them to get them out of here as soon as they can," Tijerina said. "They usually have to get another car to tow it off."

Administration Reducing Official Contacts With USSR

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration is reducing official contacts with Moscow to a bare minimum until relations improve, a move that follows by seven days the president's decision to impose trade-reprisals against the Soviet Union.

Citing the administration's "great concern" over Soviet treatment of dissidents and American reporters in Moscow, State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said Tuesday that all visits to the Soviet Union by high-level U.S. officials are being deferred on a case-by-case basis.

In the first planned visit to be affected under the new policy, spokesman Carter said, Assistant Housing and Urban Development Secretary Lawrence B. Simons had canceled a 14-day visit to the Soviet Union scheduled to begin next week.

But Carter said that if American officials perceived "a better atmosphere on various issues affecting our relationship, we would allow exchanges once again to become more active."

And he said that arms control negotiations are not affected. Such talks, he said, are too important to be affected by Soviet performance on human rights matters.

Over the last two weeks, separate negotiations have been conducted on a strategic arms limitation agreement and on a pact to curb conventional arms sales to other nations.

In a nationally televised news conference last Thursday, President Carter said that no additional punitive measures were planned beyond his decisions Tuesday to cancel the sale of Sperry Univac computer to Tass, the Soviet news agency, and to require export licenses for all oil production equipment sold to Russia.

The president said his administration had not "embarked on a vendetta" against the Soviet Union.

Tuesday's cancellation was the third in less than a month of a senior-level mission to Moscow. The others involved a delegation from the Environmental Protection Agency and the president's science adviser, Frank Press.

All three missions had been scheduled in line with a series of agreements in areas of non-strategic cooperation signed by the United States and Russia. Most date from the early 1970s, the heyday of détente.

Mark L. Schneider, a deputy assistant secretary of state, said the Soviet restrictions include a 30 per cent tax on money sent to Soviet citizens from abroad, increased duties on gifts and a ban on mailings of matzoh packages to Soviet Jews.

women has largely been perpetrated through the imposition of an arbitrary and unvalidated minimum (5-foot-6) height requirement."

The Kentucky Commission on Human Rights ruled in July 1977 that the height requirement discriminates against women after two females who were denied admission to the state police academy because they were too short challenged the rule. However, the ruling was reversed last May in Franklin Circuit Court. The human rights commission is preparing an appeal.

The LEAA notified Gov. Julian Carroll in November 1977 that it was suspending payment of more than $1 million in annual federal assistance because agencies that benefit from its help must comply with federal equal employment opportunity guidelines.

The future of federal assistance for state police crime laboratories could be held up pending completion of the appeals process through state courts.

The civil rights advisory committee also sharply criticized what it called the police bureau's failure to develop affirmative action plans.

"In addition to the largely ignored problem of unvalidated recruitment, selection, and promotion procedures, the bureau has not developed or implemented any specific goals or timetables for overcoming the historical underrepresentation of minorities and the exclusion of women among sworn personnel of the bureau," the report said.

The panel urged the U.S. Department of Justice "to institute such legal proceedings as required to compel full compliance with the mandates of the federal civil rights law, and seek the remedies necessary to fully overcome the bureau's historical and continuous exclusion of women and underrepresentation of minorities."

In an accompanying response to the report, police Commissioner Kenneth E. Brandenburg said the bureau "has made and continues to make considerable progress in equal employment opportunities for all."

Brandenburg said he is "convinced that there has been no past discrimination by this agency against any applicant who met required standards and there will be none in the future."

South Pleasant Grove To Hold Its Summer Revival

South Pleasant Grove United Methodist Church will hold its summer revival beginning Sunday night, July 30 and continuing through Friday night, August 4, at 7:30 each evening.

The guest minister will be the Rev. Dr. William M. Vaughan, Jr., the district superintendent of the Lexington District of the Memphis Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church. Dr. Vaughan, born in Mayfield, is the son of a Methodist minister and was an aviator in the Navy during World War II.

Dr. Vaughan was graduated from Lambuth College, attended Carson - Newman

Dr. William M. Vaughan, Jr., College, the University of North Carolina, George Peabody College, Scarritt College, the University of California, and received his Master of Divinity degree from Vanderbilt Divinity School, and his Doctor of Divinity degree from Lambuth College.

Dr. Vaughan has served as a pastor in the United Methodist Church for 35 years. Some of his former pastorates include First Methodist Church, Selmer; First Methodist Church, Martin; Chaplain, University of Tennessee Medical Units; and First Methodist Church, Memphis. He was a delegate to the World Methodist Conference in 1976 in Dublin, Ireland. Dr.

Vaughan is noted as one of the strong preachers of the Memphis Annual Conference. On Sunday July 30, at 5:30 p.m. a pot-luck supper will be held to welcome Dr. Vaughan and to honor the South Pleasant Grove choir and musicians.

To receive special recognition for their years of service will be Mrs. Otto Erwin, church organist; Mrs. L. D. Cook, choir director; Mrs. R. L. Cooper, choir director; and Tommy Gaines, church pianist. The choir will sing each evening during the revival and special duets and quartets are prepared.

On Wednesday evening, August 2, the youth and children's choirs, under the direction of Tom Allen, will sing.

Everyone is invited to the services and to the supper according to the Rev. Dr. William P. Mullins, Jr., church pastor.

Funerals

Ben Armstrong Dies Tuesday; Is Father Of Mrs. Brandon

Ben Armstrong, father of Mrs. Howard (Ruth) Brandon of Murray, died Tuesday at 9:25 a.m. at the Western Baptist Hospital, Paducah. He was 69 years of age and a resident of La Center Route Two.

Mr. Armstrong was a retired farmer and a member of the Pleasant Hill United Methodist Church, La Center.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Geraldine Armstrong; one son, Ben Allen Armstrong, Louisville; one daughter, Mrs. Howard Brandon, Murray; one grandson, Randy Brandon, Murray; four granddaughters, Mrs. Leigh Taub, Mrs. Lynne Seewer, and Miss Beth Armstrong, all of Louisville, and Miss Lorian Brandon, Murray; three brothers; four sisters.

The funeral is being held today at two p.m. at the Pleasant Hill United Methodist Church with the Rev. Harold Craig officiating.

Serving as pallbearers are Don Armstrong, Fred Wilson Armstrong, Randy Brandon, Jay Ferguson, Louis Boyd Dismore, and David Seewer. Burial will follow in the church cemetery with the arrangements by the Jones Funeral Home of La Center.

Mrs. Lena Bogard Dies At Home With Rites Held Today

Mrs. Lena Bogard, native of Calloway County, died Tuesday at 11:15 a.m. at her home on Old Mayfield Road, Paducah. She was 62 years of age.

The deceased was a member of the Bellview Baptist Church and was employed as a housekeeper for Holiday Inn.

Mrs. Bogard is survived by her husband, Wilson Bogard; two daughters, Mrs. Peggy Sawyer, and Mrs. Linda Massey, Paducah; one sister, Mrs. Margaret Nanney, Hardin; seven grandchildren.

The funeral is being held today at one p.m. at the chapel of the Lindsey Funeral Home, Paducah, with the Rev. Louis Brinker and the Rev. Willard Beasley officiating. Burial will follow in the Woodlawn Memorial Gardens there.

Elm Grove Church Plans Bible School & Sunday Services

The Elm Grove Baptist Church will conduct its Vacation Bible School beginning Monday, July 31, and continuing through Friday, Aug. 4.

Children through eleven years will meet each morning from 8:30 to 11:30. Youth twelve years old and up will meet from 6:30 to 8:30 each evening.

The Sunday services of the church will begin with Sunday School at ten a.m. followed by the morning worship at eleven a.m. with the pastor, the Rev. Calvin Wilkins as speaker.

Guest speaker for the 6:45 p.m. services on Sunday will be the Rev. Sam Vernon of St. Anns Bay, Jamaica. Church Training will be at six p.m.

A time of fellowship will follow the evening service, and the public is invited to attend all services, a church spokesman said.

Leaders Of The Nation's Largest Postal Union Vote Against Tentative Contract

By OWEN ULLMANN AP Labor Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders of the nation's largest postal union voted against a proposed labor contract today, but decided to submit the tentative settlement to rank-and-file members for a ratification vote.

The national bargaining advisory committee of the American Postal Workers Union voted 29-to-15 against the tentative three-year accord. But then the committee voted 30-to-9 to send the proposed contract to the union's 280,000 rank-and-file members for a ratification vote.

At least one member of the committee threatened to go to federal court to block the move, saying it violates the union's constitution.

The proposed contract already has sparked wildcat walkouts at mail centers on the East and West coasts.

The APWU president, Emmet Andrews, who was one of the negotiators for the accord reached with the Postal Service last Friday, said in getting approval to send the contract to the rank-and-file: "I would urge that they ratify it," he said.

John Richards, president of the Pittsburgh area local, said he planned to file suit in U.S. District Court here to stop Andrews from issuing the contract for ratification.

Richards said the principal objection by local leaders was that the wage increase is not high enough and that local officials were unhappy with about six work rule provisions, including the Postal Service's right to continue assigning mandatory overtime.

Andrews noted that in previous years, when there was strong opposition from local leaders to proposed contracts, the contracts were ratified by the rank-and-file anyway.

The APWU is one of four unions that represent a total of 554,000 postal workers. It is the only one that calls for an advisory committee vote.

All four unions are expected to send out mail ballots within a week, and the results likely will not be known until at least mid-August.

Gulf Oil Settles For $42.2 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced today that Gulf Oil Corp. will pay the U.S. Treasury $42.2 million in a compromise settlement of federal claims that it overstated its crude oil costs by $79.8 million.

Deputy Press Secretary Rex Granum said Gulf, which did not acknowledge guilt, was the first major oil company to reach a settlement on federal claims that total about $1 billion.

Federal energy officials had claimed Gulf overstated the cost of crude oil obtained from foreign affiliates in the 1973-1975 period.

Granum said individuals who can establish that they should share in the Gulf settlement monies will be able to file claims with the Department of Energy.

Money that is not distributed to individuals will go into the Treasury, Granum said.

Leland Peeler, director, urges the public to attend.

Hilltop Church To Hold Revival Meet Starting On Sunday

The Hilltop Baptist Church, located across from the Old Salem Cemetery on the old New Concord Road, will hold revival services starting Sunday evening, July 30.

Guest speaker for the services to be held at 7:30 each evening will be the Rev. R. J. Burpee, pastor of the Grace Baptist Church, Murray. The services will continue through Sunday, Aug. 6, at eleven a.m.

The church pastor, the Rev. Richard West of Benton, invites the public to attend.

...NEWS IN BRIEF...

By The Associated Press NEW YORK (AP) — Unseen participants in the wild night of looting during New York City's 1977 blackout were poverty and unemployment — and the poverty is spreading, says a new Ford Foundation study.

The events of that hot, muggy July 13 night "give a sneak preview of economic and social changes" in the city that would otherwise not have shown up for years, said the study.

"What the brief picture showed of the deterioration in neighborhoods, and general proliferation of poverty throughout the boroughs was alarming indeed," said the report, compiled by Robert Curvin and Bruce Porter with foundation support.

"The proliferation of poor people throughout New York City ...

"It would be easier to say where they are not, rather than where they are."

JERUSALEM (AP) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin says Egypt's expulsion of a standby Israeli delegation from Cairo is a minor matter and chances for peace are still excellent.

The delegation of military men, which stayed in Egypt after peace talks between the two countries broke down in January, was to return home today by Egyptian airliner.

President Anwar Sadat asked the Israeli delegation to leave "since there was no need for their presence," the Egyptian government television service announced. Begin said in spite of the Egyptian move, he sees "excellent chances for the peace process."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Worried about reports that government files on millions of Americans are not tamper-proof, the Carter administration is moving to crack down on computer security problems, an administration source says.

The source said the Office of Management and Budget is planning, probably next week, to issue a directive requiring tighter precautions to safeguard against unauthorized people having access to the government's computers. President Carter had asked the OMB in February 1977, to study the problem.

The federal government is the country's largest user of computers with an estimated 10,000 of them processing everything from tax returns to crop reports.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Concerned about the balance of power in Asia, the Senate is demanding a 'voice in any further administration decisions to withdraw U.S. troops from South Korea.

The Korean amendment was adopted as senators passed the $2.8 billion fiscal 1979 foreign military aid bill, which also makes lifting the U.S. economic boycott against Rhodesia contingent on progress in that Southern African country toward black majority rule. The legislation, approved 73-13 on Wednesday, now goes to the House for action, probably next week.

The amendment on removal of U.S. troops from Korea was adopted as a fatigued Senate neared the close of two days' debate on the massive aid bill.
